CLOSED CIRCUIT LICENSE

Terms of license: When accepted by ORL Productions, this license allows the licensee to broadcast the contents of the DVD through its closed circuit TV system an unlimited number of times. The broadcast may not be made available to anyone by any means other than through the closed circuit system at the time of broadcast. In particular, it may not be shown through a web site which allows access to programs broadcast through the closed circuit system. It may not be shown in any way that allows access by the general public. The licensee shall place a statement on its closed circuit system that the video is shown under license to ORL Productions and that users may not record the program. The license remains in effect with no termination date as long as these terms are followed.
